"Indeed, with hardship [will be] ease."

(QS. Al-Insyirah: 5-6)

"At home, there are two hearts who wait patiently for your return, not just with a smile, but with news that makes them proud. Do not let them down. Hold back your complaints, for your weariness today is nothing compared to the sacrifices they made to raise you, to sustain you, and to guide you to this very point. One step of your success is the answer to a thousand of their prayers."

(Aisyah)

This thesis is dedicated to my beloved father, Aleman, and my dearest mother, Asiah, whose love and prayers have been my greatest strength. To my sister, Amelia Puspita, and my brother, Aji Ridho, for your care and encouragement, and to my extended family for always being a source of support and inspiration throughout this journey.

ABSTRACT

Aisyah, 2025. Teaching Storytelling Through Collaborative-Word Picture Chain Cards Technique at Class Eight of SMP Negeri 12 Sepauk. Thesis, English Language Education Research Program, STKIP Persada Khatulistiwa Sintang. Advisor I: Sijono, M.Pd. Advisor II: Ilinawati, M.Pd.

Keywords: chain cards, collaborative, speaking, storytelling

This research conducted to address the problems faced by eighth-grade students at SMPN 12 Sepauk, particularly their low participation and limited speaking skill in English storytelling activities. The students showed minimal engagement during speaking tasks and struggled to perform well in storytelling. Therefore, this research aimed to describe how the Collaborative Word-Picture Chain Cards technique enhance students' participation in speaking activities and to examine its effect on their storytelling performance. This research employed a Classroom Action Research (CAR) design. The data were collected through various techniques, including observations, interviews, speaking tests, and documentations, and the data were analyzed using both qualitative and quantitative methods. The instruments used in this research were observation checklists, field notes, interview guidelines, speaking test rubrics, and video recordings. The findings showed that the implementation of the Collaborative Word-Picture Chain Cards technique contributed to a substantial improvement in students' speaking ability and classroom participation. The students demonstrated greater confidence, enhanced fluency, and a higher level of involvement in storytelling activities, indicating that the strategy was successful in fostering both linguistic development and active engagement. These results suggest that the use of Collaborative Word-Picture Chain Cards can be a valuable strategy in teaching English speaking, particularly storytelling. Theoretically, it supports the view that visual media and collaborative activities enhance students' oral performance. Practically, it provides teachers with an alternative technique to increase students' participation, confidence, and creativity in storytelling.
